Passenger Killed

Rockland, Me., July 17 (A)--New England's "Flying Santa Claus," Capt. William H. Wincapaw, died of a heart attack last night in the air, where he had estimated he spent a quarter of his 62 years.

A passenger making his first flight drowned when Wincapaw's float plane, out of control, dived into Rockland Harbor. He was Robert L. Muckenhirn, 20, of Washington, D. C. Medical Examiner Charles D. North, attributing Wincapaw's death to coronary occlusion, said he believed the veteran airman was dead when the plane went into what an eyewitness called "a deep, diving spiral, almost a spin." Muckenhir, last of some 12,000 passengers Wincapaw had carried in 36 years as a pilot, had gone up for a brief sight-seeing trip. Except in the war years, Wincapaw had "hombed" New England lighthouses with Christmas gift packages annually since 1927.

State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, who announced the boards' recommendations yesterday, said he would hold public hearings on the proposals at Buffalo, August 5, Albany, August 7, and New York city, August 12. The nine-member minimum wage boards, each consisting of three representatives of labor, employes and the public, made their recommendations following public hearings and studies of conditions in the industries.

hearings and studies of conditions in the industries.

The recommendations of the cleaning and dyeing hoard included a weekly minimum wage of $17,25 for full-time employes up to and including 30 hours a week. An hourly rate of 86 cents (time and a half of the basic hourly minimum) was proposed after 40 hours and also for split shift work.

BACK TO THE KITCHEN

It will be news to many that for 13 years a society has existed in England which has had for its purpose the driving of women back to kitchens and nurséries. Its aim, as implied by its title, The Anti-Woman Society, might even go so far as to do away with the fair-sex altogether. Fred Workmull, founder and leader of this ambitious organization, has accused women of stealing men's, jobs and ruining their morals.

A recent dispatch from London, however, announces that this enemy of half of society has been married for two months. Perhaps, after thirteen years of effort in behalf of a cause which was lost before it was undertaken, he decided to give the whole thing up and take over the care and support of one of the hated sex. His capitulation is thorough and complete.

It would be interesting to interview Fred in a couple of years and get his reactions to the married state. He might, depending on the woman he married, find that love for onewoman has mellowed him to the point of benevolence toward all her sex; and on the other hand, he may have rejoined the ranks. of the woman-haters.

But trying to turn the clock back never works very well. It keeps people looking back, not forward. It's better to take the new things in stride. Let the women work outside if need be, but keep before them the principle that caring for the family comes first. The new labor-savers have given women leisure that the grandmothers never knew. Sometimes it's better to use this leisure working than idling, and sometimes it's necessary for the mother to work outside the home. The question is not how she manages to care for the home but how well. If she does it well, what matter how? If not, let her learn. But let's go forward with home care, not back.

Various doubtful nations have been saying now that they're going to "honor their" debts"-but will they really pay 'em?

SOME PRIVACY STILL

"Phone vision" it's called. It's to be the newest thing in home entertainment, and comes by telephone, if one can imagine a telephone contributing pleasure to life. It is really television, piped into the home via the wires and instrument of the ordinary phone. A call to a distributing center will bring back motion pictures, Broadway plays and newsreels-so say the promoters. Special wires and apparatus must be somehow attached to the telephone, you understand, first. But after that, it is all to be very simple. Television officials predict that the new system will be in operation within a year in Chicago, Los Angeles, New York and Washington.

So far there's nothing in the announcement that implies the thing will automatically and willy nilly reveal the innocent telephone subscriber as he or she lifts the receiver to answer an ordinary ring. There are some inventions of the modern day that a person simply doesn't want around—atom bombs and automatic telephone television, for

THE NEW FURNITURE

Veterans of World War II are the biggest buyers of new furniture today, and their taste runs to modern designs and good construction, observe the sponsors of the International Home Furnishings Market in Chicago.

Many vets live in small quarters, and the easy adaptability of modern pieces seems to fit their surroundings. Chests are 'made' which are equally suitable to living room or bedroom, and thus fit easily into a room which combines the functions of both. These chests hold clothing and can be used as writing desks. The pale wood, clean lines, the lack of ornament combine to make these pieces easy to care for.

Though this new furniture does not always appeal to lovers of the graceful beauty of Chippendale and Adam, it may be that in a

POOR CZECHOSLOVAKIA

None of the countries that Woodrow Wilson so ardently helped to create meant so much to him as Czechoslovakia. That undoubtedly was because of his great affection for Professor Thomas Masaryk and his associate. Dr. Eduard Benes. Out of the old Austro-Hungarian provinces, Bohemia, Moravia, Slovakia and Ruthenia, Czechoslovakia was created, mostly Slavic but with a strong and important German minority. The country was principally Roman Catholic, with large Protestant and Jewish populations.

The new nation prospered, Its great Skoda works, partly financed by France, became one of works, party manced by France, tecame one one the principal heavy industries of Europe. Nevertheless, geography served Czechoslovakia badly. Surless, geography served Czechoslovakia badly. Surrounded by Germany, Austria, Poland and Hungary, Czechoslovakia was not only landlocked but always in danger—in danger of absorption by a powerful Germany. After Munich, Hitler actually moved in, annexing the Sudeten region of Bohemia and making a puppet of Slovakia. During the war, of course, the Nazis occupied the entire country until the Russians took over.

At Yalta, Czechoslovakia was tragleally included in the Russian sphere of influence which the sphere of the sphe

At Yalta, Czochoslovakia was tragically included in the Russian sphere of influence which the Russians always interpreted as giving them a right to pass on the personnel of government. Thus, the prime minister of the country had to be a Communist. Eut after Potsdam, once of the really great tragedies of Europe occurred in Czechoslovakia, namely, the Sudctan Germans, 3,500,000 of them, the best workers in the country, were expelled from the best workers in the country, were expelled from it. These German Bohemians had lived in that country from time immemorial and were the backbone of its industrial life. Few displacements have bone of its industrial life. Few displacements have been as outrageous.

During the war, most of the country had been occupied by the Red Army, which meant that its great heavy industries were held by Soviet Russia. The Czechs negotiated. The best they could get was that whereas the Russians were willing to return these industries to Czechoslovakia, they integrated the entire economy of the country into the Soviet system. Of course, this resulted in the nationalization of certain industries and all banks. About 20 per cent of the industries remained free, but they are so tightly controlled that it does not matter. No really free economic life exists today in Czechoslovakia any more than in Soviet Russia.

The Czechs then devised a policy of being a

The Czechosiovakia any more than in Soviet Russia.

The Czechs then devised a policy of being a bridge between East and West. Frankly, they decided to collaborate closely with the Soviet Union and the various Slavic states. In April, 1946, a treaty of mutual assistance was signed with Yugo-Blavia, Soviet Russia's westernmost outpost. The Tito over the Trieste question. No free people would voluntarily do that. Actually, Czechoslovakia was already a puppet, no longer able to determine its own foreign policy.

Czechoslovakia's army, headed by General Svohoda had during the war been interned in Russia, serving as a trusted diaison officer between Soviet authorities and other interned Czechs. Expericace has well established the fact that only a Communist could be trusted to hold such a position. During the war, the Czechs in London attempted to discard Svoboda but unsuccessfully. At that moment, Soviet Russia threatened to appoint him a Major-General in the Soviet Army which would have given him such rank and authority as would make him more important in Czech affairs. Only Communists rise in his army which makes a democratic civilian government a weak thing. What has happened in Czechoslovakia was an inevitable aftermath of Hungary. Soviet Russia is consolidating her power in the old Austro-Mungarian Empire, taking all of it, except little Austria in which the United States still has troops. The curious assumption of the Czechs that they could somehow maneuver themselves into a free life, a middleman between East and West, serving Soviet Russia as a peephole into Western Europe and a middleman between East and west, serving so-viet Russia as a peephole into Western Europe and charging the West a price for the privilege, was as ridiculous as it was futile.

It took only a telephone call from the Kremlin to show Jan Masaryk, the son of the great patriot-and Woodrow Wilson's good friend, exactly what and woodrow wison's good friend, exactly what he and his country amount to They are a province of the Soviet Union—little different from Poland, Yugoslavia and poor Finland.

VALUE OF SULFADIAZINE AND PENICILLIN While appendicitis is not as frightening to us as in former years, there are still too many deaths therefrom. This despite the knowledge gained by the Philadelphia and other experiments.

That World War II taught medical officers much about the treatment of surgical conditions, including appendicitis, is now generally known and the civilian population is now being helped thereby.

In the "Journal of the American Medical Association," Drs. W. D. Green, Joseph Silverstein, Harry G. Hardt and Lindon Seed state that the value of the prophylactic (preventive) use of the sulfona mide compounds and penicillin in the wounded was conclusively demonstrated during World War II. The death rate of battle casualties admitted to the general hospitals in England from the period fol-lowing the invasion of France to the end of the war was I in 1,000. In World War I it was from 20 to 60 per 1,000, While removal of the injured, immediate surgical care, and free use of blood and blood plasma accounted for much of this improvement, most of it was due to "the astonishing absence of infection." Every wounded soldier, regardless of the size or character of his wound, routinely was given penicillin and sulfadiazine to prevent infection.

As a natural consequence of this routine administration of sulfadiazine and penicillin in the armed forces, this method was used in a series of patients operated on for acute appendicitis at the Cook County Hospital, Chicago. The death rate from ap-pendicitis in this hospital has been fairly uniform over a period of years and the operations are performed largely by the resident staff. The condition of the patients over the years has been the same and the method of operating the same.

In a series of cases with acute appendicitis, the sulfadiazine and penicillin were given and in another scries, with the same conditions present, no sulfadiazine or penicilion was given. In addition to the definite reduction in the death rate by the use of sulfadiazine and penicillin, there was a definite reduction in degree of suffering or illness after operation. The patients were more comfortable, had less abdominal pain and distension, and left the hospital at an earlier date.

Thus the burden of proof on the prosecution in any test case is to discover first what expenditure if any was made "in connection with" a campaign. For a labor-union newspaper, regularly issued as a service to its members, to announce that it supports a candidate does not on its face prove what "expenditure," if any has been made. The publication would have been issued even if there had been no election. To fill a space already arranged for is not to make a direct expenditure identifiable separately.

Immediately, dispatches were written declaring that the labor union in question has "defied" the law. TrumanFloodPlan Meets Opposition, 'Poorly Conceived'

Taber and Dondero Offer Opinions That Bill Won't Be Given Consideration

Washington, July 17 (49) President Truman's request for $250,000,000 now to launch a 10year, $6,000,000,000 flood control and river development program bumped into stern and powerful opposition today.

"Is is a scatterfire and poorlyconceived plan" Chairman Taber (R.-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee which must pass on the request, told reporters.

"There is no possibility of legislation this year," added Chairman Dondero (R.-Mich.) of the House Public Works Committee, which has jurdisdiction over river pro-grams up to the point where the appropriations committee takes

Also under the terms of the Potsdam proclamation, of July, 1945, it was stated that Japanese sovereignty "shall be limited to the islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu, Shikoku, and such minor islands" as the victorious nations might later determine.

Thus some of the territorial questions that might have been centers of great dispute may be considered beyond controversy unless some one of the participating nations wants to reopen the issue.

The American aim in seeking an early start on the treaty drafting appears to be to restore Japan to a supervised peacetime basis as repridly as roserible and treaty draft.

Governor Dewey Leaves on 3rd Leg Of Vacation Trip

Tour of Yellowstone, Other Places Is on Itinerary; He Will Confer With Covernors

Salt Lake City, July 17 (A)-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, his presidential 'stock obviously boosted' during the national governors' conference, leaves tonight on the. third leg of his vacation-political tour of the west.

The New York chief, executive will confer with Republican leaders of Montana, Idaho and Wyoming during a week's sightseeing tour of Yellowstone National Park and nearby scenic meccas.

Dewey's prospects of winning the 1948 Republican presidential the 1948 Republican presidentials opinion of political observers during the four-day governors' conference which closed last night. His lop-sided victory over allother prospective candidates in a score and of the Republican secret poil of the Republican governors here indicated that Dewey had more widespread sup-port than even his own advisers believed was represented in the sentiment of the state chief execu-the Associated Press in coopera-tion with two Salt Lake City newspapers, numerous reports circulated among the conference observers that an anti-Dewey sentiment was forming among influential Republicans from key states.

Dewey paid no public attention to the stories and reiterated that to the stories and reiterated that his attendance at the conference was strictly "non-political." But he held more huddles with governors and other Republican leaders than any other state executive. An informed source said these talks indicated Dewey was not conceding any state's delegation to the opposition at the national convention in Philadelphia next June.

The New Yorker met frequently and at length with Cov. Earl and at length with Cov. Earl Warren of California, who finished second in the poll with two first-choice votes to Dewey's 10.

Because of these talks, speculation persisted that the ex-racket buster was trying to persuade Warren to take second place on a Dewey-led ticket Dewey-led ticket.

Police Are Asked To Look for 'Dick,' Who Took Bicycle

Local police were asked today to issist in locating a man known as 'Dick," who, according to a complainant, left a farm at Coxsackie inches tall and weighs about 176 pounds. He has black hair and a mustache and wore a khaki shirt and army cap when last seen.

Local police learned that a man answering the general description of "Dick," was reported seen in Saugerties, some time before the local police were notified this morning, but that he was then wearing a blue "railroad" jacket.

plainant, left a farm at Coxsackie with a boy's bleycle and was supposed to be headed for Kingston.

Adam C. Derrer of Coxsackie made the plea for the help of local police at 6:35 a.m. today. He said that the man wanted had worked for him on the Bergmann farm, Coxsackie and that he had taken his son's bicycle to go to a carnival in Catskill.

After the man failed to return, Derrer told the police, he checked at the farm home and found that the man had removed all of his personal property. He later learned that "Dick" had informed two fellow workmen that he had planned to go to Kingston as originally planned before he took the farm job.

"Dick," the police were told, is about 38 years old, six feet, two stopping the Tony Zale-Rocky or Rastlly in stopping the Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano ring thriller,

The pros and cons mushroomed in the sweltering heat of Chicago Stadium last night as soon as the regal robes of middleweight champion had been stripped from Zale's shoulders in 2:10 of the sixth. None in the crowd of 18,547 had expected the clouting rematch of expected the clouting rematch of the pair to go the full 15 rounds but neither had the thousands of near the ropes and had staggered across the ring.

"Do you want to see the fellow get murdered?" the referee asked of no one in particular while leaning over the top rope after he had stopped the battle.

Zale contributed to the argumentative fireworks, when in his dressing room, he laid his defeat to "the heat and the referee." He told interviewers he "knew what was going on" and thought he could have lasted out the final 50 seconds of the fateful session. He was barely marked whereas the 25-year-old successor to the middleweight throne fitted his new crown over a head that revealed cuts over both eyes. Rocky's left eye bled freely in the third round, when he went down for a no-count and the claret was gushing again in the fourth. His right eye was nearly closed.

nearly closed.

The winner looked more like the loser should look at the end. loser should look at the end.

Referee Behr's verdict was accepted as correct by as many neutrals, if not more, than those who opposed it. Many believed that even if Zale had weathered the disastrous sixth, he would have become an easy victim in the next round. Behr, incidentally, coached the 1936 U. S. Olympic boxing team and was himself a former professional boxer and is noted for his ring judgment.

Ferraro, Schatzel, Slover, LaRocca SummerLoopStars

In Summer Mixed League contests at Central Recreation Bowling Alleys, last night, Johnny Ferraro, Anthony LaRocca, D. Slover and Rose Schatzel were the outstanding keglers.

Ferraro led the Cardinals to their 3-0 victory over Sams with a 627, and 234 high single.

Mrs. Schatzel, posting one 232, ran off a 608, but despite her efforts Chez Emile lost to the Francis pin spillers, 2-0.

LaRocca came through with a 600, featuring a 241 single, but his team dipped its colors to the Howards, 2-1.

Howards, 2-1.

D. Slover came through with a 539 and a 195 single but the Schryvers fell behind otherwise and lost to the Sangis 2-1.

Chicago, July 17 (P)—Arguments stormed all over Chicago brau, Wednesday at the Athletic today over the provocative speculation whether Referee Johnny Behr acted wisely or hastily in Graziano ring thriller.

The pros and cons mushroomed in the sweltering heat of Chicago brau, Wednesday at the Athletic Stoll's infield out.

As a result of the skirmish, the Hofrau lifted itself into second place, while the losers dropped to fourth berth in the club standings.

It was a big night for the Hofrau ind trotted home himself on Stoll's infield out.

Chez Emile tied the score in the second inning. Schrowang was hit oy a pitched ball, Hansen flied to Gill, rf.

Flyweight Flyer

Weighing only 85 pounds, this new Boeing turbo-jet engine is believed to be the smallest of its type ever built. The engine, which develops 150 pounds of it rust, is 29 inches long with a maximum diameter of 22 inches. A 7½-inch turbine wheel, driven by rapidly expanding exhaust gases, produces the power. Above, a Boeing worker demonstrates its light weight.

Pat McDermott Is ManWhoTypesHis Cellmates' Blood

Tough Convict Devised Method of Checking for TB; Had Stormy Past

By KEN DAVIS, JOHN FRYE Columbus, O. July 17 (P)wenty-one years ago Pat McDermott was a hot-headed, red-haired Irishman-a fast man with a buck or a bullet.

One of those fast bullets killed Oon Mellett, a crusading editor of Canton, Ohio, and Triggerman McDermott got life in Ohio Pententiary.

Today, Pat is the man who has devised an easier, more rapid more accurate means of checking putum for tuberculosis germs.

He is the fellow who types the blood of all new prisoners at Ohio Penitentiary, and who can find the right blood for the right job at the

Furthermore, with his reputation still potent after all these years, Pat can make prison incor-rigibles walk the chalk line for the rigibles walk the chalk line for the prison doctor.

It wasn't always so. Pat's apparent regeneration wasn't rapid. He escaped in a snowstorm in 1929. He was recaptured five miles away, half dead from exposure. A year later Pat pitched rocks at penitentiary guards during a fire which took the lives of 320 fellow prisoners.

Graver and Quieter

Grayer and Quieter

Pat's a grayer, quieter person now, still serving life for murder, but apparently without the mental attitude which kept him on the wrong side of the legal tracks two decades ago: The prison hospital laboratory has seen to that.

His is a story of seeming rehabilitation which pins a medal on Ohio's penal system, but the important thing to seelely—even

is his sputum test.

A report prepared for publication in technical journals says McDermott's method permits immediate use of sputum taken directly, from the patient and colors bacilli selectively so they can be seen and radily identified.

The method now is the accented

The method now is the accepted procedure at the prison hospital and several Columbus hospitals are using the test experimentally.

Among the things McDermott uses are carbol Fuchsin, acid alcohol, chloramine-T, acetic acid, so-dium bicarbonate and ordinary tap

No Scientific Background

Because Pat has no background of scientific education, the exact means which obtains the test's ef-fectiveness is not yet known. The solutions he prepares seem to dissolve foreign matter on the test's slide, but doctors still are trying to find out just what does happen.
The Canton triggerman, strangely enough, got into this laboratory business when he himself was near death from tuberculosis, brought on by his abortive escape attempt.

to live.
Pat is 48 now. He will come up for parole consideration within a month or two as a result by a new law which lets the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission commute sentences of first degree lifers to second degree after 20 years, making them eligible for paroles.

Federation Plans | Mrs. Stock Is Hurt To Seek Repeal of In Local Accident

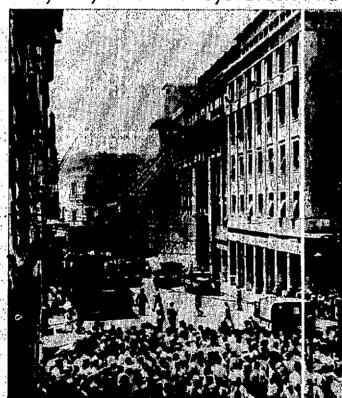

Mrs. Teresa Stock, 19 Spring street, suffered a head injury and a cut on one knee in an accident at Wurts and McEntee street at 9:35 p. m. Wednesday, according to the local police.

Mrs. Stock was riding in an auto operated by her husband, Paul M. Stock, which according to the report, was in collision with a car driven by William Louis Cropanesc, 194 Sanford street; Brooklyn

The latter, the report said, was coming out of Wurts street and turning north into McEntee street, and the other auto headed in the opposite direction was turning into Wurts street, when they collided. Officers Kenneth Straton and William Hanley, who investigated, reported that both autos, were damaged considerably. The report said that Mrs. Stock injured her head when it struck the wind-shield. She was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Officer
